TRIAL COLONEL A. BURR.

MOTION FOR COMMITMENT.

EXAMINATION OF EVIDENCE.

SATURDAY, October 8.

(Colonel McKec's testimony concluded.)

Hunslow, Feb. 16, 07.

Dear General,

I received a few days at Natchez your favor of the 8th inst. and nothing could have given me more pleasure; for the strange distant reserve of some of my friends in this quarter, and an observation from Dr. Carmichael that my note from the Bluffs had excited some suspicion of me in a bosom that shall never be justified in harboring any, had mortified me sorely; read that letter again and if it does not speak the language of a heart that loves you, I must have been very unfortunate in expressing myself.

I never was a Burrite ner can I ever give myself up to schemes of lawless plunder: tis certain that in my present situation I might have engaged in any honorable en. terprize, however hazardous; but the late one, such as it has been represented, is such as I hope no friend of mine will ever suspect me of favoring.

I have not the means and if I had I have not at this moment the time to give you much information on the state of things in this country.

May your purse keep pace with your heart and may you live a thousand years. Your affectionate friend

JOHN McKEE.

His Excelleeny Gen. Wilkinson. Mr. Burr. Did you make any reply to that postscript? A I did not. I answered the letter itself.

Mr. Hay complimented col. McKee's letters; declaring them to be excellent models of the Epistolary style.

gone away during his indisposition; and that he had but one more witness to pro. duce, except to establish certain circumstances against gen. Eaton.

Mr. Blennerhassett then requested that a Mir. Gates might be called in on his be.

GATES.

Mr. Bl. Will you state what you know about the seizing of the boats and provisions near Marietta? A I was present at the time of seizing the boats. There were a few barrels of kiln-dried corn meal on board and a few barrels of apples belong. ing to Mr. Putnam. Q Did you see any officers on duty? A I saw militia officers. gen. Buel and his aid-de-camp major Clark. Q. Were you a militia man? A I told them they had no right to call upon me in that character, during my present capaci-

Mr. Blennerhassett. You had been used only to carry a fife and not a musquet? A Yes. Q Did they accept of your apology for not acting? A They said, that if I would attend at 12 o'clock with my musquet, I should be immediately discharged. Mr. Bl. Did you see any authority under which general Buel acted? A Yes. He shewed me a paper, which he said was his authority from gov. Tiffin, Q Did you see the boat that was built for my family? what has become of it? A The last time I saw it, it lay in a very uneasy posture near Marietta.

Gross-Examined.

Mr. Wirt. As far as I understand you, you were called on to attack the boats? A Yes. Q And you were unwilling to do it? A I was. Q That is you were willing to whistle and not to fight? A Yes.

The following deposition of Charles Fenton Mercer was then offered on the part of the accused, and read.

City of Richmond and State of Virginia. Personally appeared before me Ed. ward Carrington, one of the magistrates for the city of Richmond aforesaid, Charles Fenton Mercer, of the county of Lou. doun and state aforesaid, a witness sum moned to attend the trial of Aaron Burr, who being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, deposed as followeth, viz. That having been called to the neighborhood of Point Pleasant at the mouth of the Great Kenawha, between the 20th of September and the 6th December, 1806, to transact some business relative to as estate which he has in the county of Mason, he became acquainted with Mr.

lina, once a fellow student of the depo nent's in the college of New Jersey. This acquaintance commenced about the 1st of Nov. near an open boat on the Ohio, in which Mr. Alaton attended by his family with a carriage and a pair of horses, ac. companied by Mr. Bl. was descending the river as far as Kentucky from whence he expected to prosecute his journey home by land. The reputation which Mrs. Bl. had acquired for telents, learning & taste and an eccentric and somewhat romantic life, rendered this unexpected interview one of the most interesting events which occurred to this depopent during his residence on the Ohio, and he accepted with pleasure an invitation from Mr. Blenner. hasset to visit his then ple asant and once much celebrated Island. It is true, that about that period, and for several weeks before, reports were in circulation that Mr. Blennerhasset was engaged with col Burr in some common enterprise, which many persons imputed a highly criminal design. But these reports and especially the injurious suspicions often connected with them, seemed to have arisen from pre-existing prejudices against col Burr which it was not difficult to trace to an origin very remete from the designs now ascribed to him; as the reports were beleived and propagated by those who spoke of them with a conviction and a zeal proportioned to their ignorance or malignity, and as they were in themselves most improbable, ab surd and ridiculous, the deponent consider ed them entitled to no serious consideration. About the middle of November, the deponent again saw Mr. Blennerhasset at the house of col. Andrew Lewis on the Ohio three miles above Point Pleasant where he alighted from his horse for an hour or two in his journey from Kentucky -In a conversation which then occurred, he adverted with much sensibility to the reports above mentioned, which had then become more current, and to which every day was adding some new exaggeration, and declared them to be utterly laise. He was the last man in the world he said, who would be disposed to disturb the peace of impair the prosperity of the United States. Weary of political agitation in his native Mr. Burr here observed that a number | country, he had sought, he added, and of witnesses whom he had summoned, had found an asylum in America, the tranquil. for closing the doors; and it is highly prolity of which he could never violate. " He had indeed" he admitted, " united with col Burr (whom public rumour had injured as much as himself) in the plan of coloni zing and improving a large tract of country on the Red River, originally granted by the king of Spain to one Baron Bastrop, and lately purchased by sol Burr of a gentleman of Kentucky The tract contained 800,000 acres, and the consideration which col Burr and himselt were to pay for it was 40,000 dollars but by distributing a part of it in hundred acre farms among a number of emigrants whom such an inducement they expected, would invite to join them, they had no doubt on the most moderate estimate, of being able to raise the value of the remainder to more than $ 1,000 000 -Mr. Blannerhassett declined the press. ing invitation of colonel Lewis to make a longer suspension of his journey, alledging as his reason for prosecuting it with the greater rapidity, that the servant who accompanied him had been sent to him in Kentucky by Mrs. Blannerhassett to urge his immediate return home for the protection of his house from the fury of a mob who had threatened to burn it down. He added also, that he expected to leave the island in en or twelve days after his return, as it was his intention to move his family down the river before the severity of the approaching winter sat in and re- lating to the office. And besides the Sernewing his former invitation to the deponeut, politely, hoped that he would commence his journey to the interior of Virginia within that period. [To be continued.]

But to rise to preserve a character unblemished which suddenly in his place, and that too after a second ballot for clerk, to address a public persed, and to return my thanks to those body, many of whom were unacquainted with me, to bring charges against my cha. racter without leaving me the power of self defence, was a course of conduct, the propriety of which I must leave to himself to explain, and to the public to judge.

But it is not the object of this address to recriminate; nor shall I advert to the singularity of permitting a public denunciation of the character of a private individual to have its intended effect where the privilege of self defence is not also permitted. shall briefly state the circumstances which gave rise to Mr. Randolph's impressi-

At the commencement of the secret proceedings of the first session of the ninth congress, no precaution was taken by the house to have doorkeepers stationed at each of the passages leading to the hall of the house to prevent persons from listening. It was not therefore to be wondered at if the nature and subject of the debates shoold accidently transpire while curiosity respecting them was so much alive. A gentleman by the name of Charles Evans did discover what was the subject of those debates, and heard the Speeches of Messrs. Randolph and Eppes. He communicated the substance of them publicly, and I im. mediately afterwards communicated what I had heard from him to Mr. Bedinger, then a member from Kentucky, with the express view of convincing him how easy it was for the proceedings of the house to become public notwithstanding the order bable that Mr. Bedinger repeated to other members, without being particular in relating also the manner in which I became possessed of a knowledge of the debates. And it is a matter of notoriety that such is the strength and clearness of the voice of Mr. Randolph that it can be heard even out side of the walls of the capitol.

Mr. Bedinger after my communication to him, frequently assured me that he was taking every precaution to prevent the possibility of any prejudice to my char cter, which might result from the nature of the communication I had made to him -I have written to him to verify this statement. Had I been guilty of any breach of confidence, is it to be supposed I would have communicated what I had so improperly discovered to a member of the very body whose secret proceedings I am charg ed with having disclosed? Or being au officer that I would in so palpable a manner, have exposed myself to the censure of the house and to public disgrace.

It has been said that I was found listening in the committee room adjoining the house of representatives. This charge I also declare to be unfounded. I never was in that committee room but one during the session of the house with closed doors. end then I was in company with Mr. Birch, jun, one of the clerks, upon business rejeant at arms and a late clerk in the office were in the room at the time we entered it, and I did not hear any thing of what was going on in the house. The gentleman from Virginia, my unjust and cruel accuser, has stated that I confessed my fault and apologised for it to him. In this particular he is very incorrect. It he construed any thing I theu said into an apology he must have strangely misunderstood me. It would not however be strange if he had forgot. to be correct at the time it was first coculated, would not some inquiry have been

City of Washington, Oct. 27, 1807. I DO hereby certify that on the day allud ed to, by the hon. John Randolph, I myself went into the committee room, in consequence of the door being open, and without key, with Mr. J. W. King, and stood by the fire to prevent strangers from entering; that I asked Mr. King if he could hear any thing said in the house; he said no, not a words We then sat down by the fire. Soon after came in Mr. Vanzandt and Mr. Burch, and went to a map near the door emering the representatives room, when I informed them the house was on confidential business, and they immediately left the committee room,

LONDON, September 8.

FROM THE LONDON GAZETTE.

Admiralty Office, September 8. Rear admiral sir Edward Pellew, com. mander in chief of his majesty's ships and vessels in the East Indies, has transmit. ted to this office a letter which he had received from lieutenant William Warden, acting commander of his majesty's sloop Rattlesnake, dated at Kedgeree, the 24th January 1807, giving an account of the capture & subsequent destruction of a French brig privateer, Les Deux Sœurs, of 16 guns, and 130 men, while on shore, inside Cheduba, whither she had proceeded from the isle of France.

The rear admiral expresses the highest approbation of lieutenant Wardens perse. vering and judicious conduct in overcome ing the local difficulties attending the destruction of the above vessel.

Paris papers have arrived to the 24 h ult. and Durch to the 4 b. Private letters from Holland, as we have already mentioned, state the surrender of Copenhagen to have taken place on the 25th. There is an article from Kiel dated on the 27th; but it states that all communication with Zeland and Sweden has been cut off for some days; the surrender of Copenhagen. therefore, on the 25th, might not have been known there on the 27th. It was patural to expect that much of the attention of the Paris and Durch journalists would be occupied with our expedition. The language of the Moniteur, and indeed all the articles relative to the expedition al. fords abundant proof of the rage of Bona. parte at our having disappointed him in his views upon the Danish navy, and pays the best compliment that could have been paid to the vigor, promptitude and decision of our government.

The governor of Holstein, alluding to conduct of the late administration, speaks of it as " having long neglected its own interests by a shameful macricity, and having berrayed its allies into a vexation

The means dissolving the ancient and sacred conons which united Denmark to Great Britain, have been prepared with as much exercy as promptitude. The Danish goeroment saw the English ships of war inclinat they were to be employed against benmark." But Bonaparte promises Denark men and money enough to carry her mugh the contest. What his men can feet she will soon feel; for he will send on to take possession of Holstein under oretext of defending it against the Eng. Money he has not to send, and i could, it would be of no use against enavy of England.

It is said we have taken possession of Ideoland.

Inc intelligence of the surrender of straisund is confirmed. The account in French papers states that early on the morning of the 16th, the trenche were bened close under the wall-that on the horfollowing days the trenches were car ried on so far that in 48 hours more the own might have been set on fire, and a macticable breach made. The king then sened to the entreaties of the inhabitants and the advice of his generals, and carried the whole Swedish garrison to Rugen, sal after demolishing the works on the ade of the island of Rugen, thus expesthe new occupants of the town to conderable danger in that quarter. Marshal Brone knew nothing of the city having been evacuated fill he was informed of it by his Swedish majesty's adjutant general and a deputation of magistrates who went to him at six o'clock in the evening of the 20th ult. The French entered it an hour allerwards. Boosparte has availed himself of the appartunity afforded him by the purrender of Straisuad to indulge his ranor and harred of the king of Sweden, who hall pever, he declares, set his foot again Pomeracia.

Bonaparte has fresh cause to rejoice in etreaty of filsit, for the accounts from Constantinople, published by the French | ship belonging to Hull on fire. hemselves, confess that the Turks have hen worsted by sea and land - hat they live been driven back to this side the Da. abe --- that the captain Pacha's fleets had ben dele ted with great slaughter -- that he two attempts against the Russians at enedos have failed, and that in short mismunes have every where attended the Turkish arms. But for the treaty of Til. sit the Turks would have sued for peace almost upon any terms; the Russian army in Turkey would have joid the Russian ar. ny in Poland, and the whole force of the Russian Empire would have been opposed ofrance. These considerations will proably not tend to increase the popularity of cheace in Russi.

The Moniscur contains the addresses to Bonaparte from the Legislative body and hetribunate, with the minister of the intrior's report of the state of France-These documents are much too long for sertion in our paper. The new minister file interior has signalised his entrance pon his official career, by an equal con empt of truth with his predecessors. He larges us with having precipitated Prus is into a war, though we ourselves at that me were in a state of hostility with Prus The minister confines his attention very day almost wholly to the state of he interior of France. We believe if we here to refer to the annual reports of the tate of France for five or six years back, we should find nearly the same magnificent bousts, couched in the same phrases, of what public works and improvements were bout to be undertaken. The fact is that hhall Bonapartes Mourishing represen. lions, he has done little or nothing for the ment of the interior or the people of tance; he has been gaining battles, he en founding new kingdoms, creating and princes and dukes, but what anormation the people of France derived from a policy in which the gratification of grantic ambition of one man has been great and almost the sole object in view.

September 9. No dispatches have yet been received om admiral Gambier later than the 22d of month-and no further intelligence arrived from Holland, either in confiralign or contradiction of the account animitted in private letters of the 3d, rewed by the mercantile house to which alluded yesterday. Measures of additi, a rigour have been adopted in conse ence of the success of it, to prevent all munication or correspondence with country-The Eda and another vessel "sailed a few days ago from Graves. | June 32.

end with passengers for Rotterdam, under Kniphausen colors, have been obliged to return to Yarmouth, after being warned off by the guard ship stationed of Helvoetsluys. They requested leave to purchase some provisions, but were ordered to proceed to sea immediately, and seek for bet. ter quarters.

In their passage to Yarmouth they spoke a pilot boat, which informed, that every vessel coming from England direct would be confiscated, and that the master and passengers would be marched to the Hague and put in confinement. It is reported that count Palsey and M. & Madame Deshaeys, who sailed a few days ago for Holland, have either been ordered to return to this country, or have been put under arrest.

We are glad to find the rumor of the U. States having given our government only four days to decide upon our answer to the dispatches brought by the Revenge schooner is wholly unfounded. We did not indeed attach any, credit to it. The differences between the two countries are to be, as they ought to be, deliberately discussed. The U. S. are said to be willing to allow the search for goods under certain circumstances, but not to allow any vessel bearing their flag to be searched for men. But in order to identify British and American seamen, they propose that a. gents shall be stationed in every commerci. al port in each country before whom all complaints shall be heard and decided, and every seaman given up to that nation to which he is found to belong. -- Courier.

A letter received in town by the China fleet lately arrived, affords some hope that sir T. Trowbridge may still be living. It is dated Bombay, Jan. 7, and says, after mentioning the arrival of a packet from England-" Sir T. Trowbridge has his flag on board the Lion."

Another letter from on board the Lion, dated China March 22 is sitent with respect to sir Thomas, but states that cap: Rolls of that ship had rendered great services to the East India company during the late disturbances.

A number of transports which are to be victualled for three months have been ordered to assemble at Portsmouth where the embark. ation is to take place. The troops are also to be furnished with camp equipage. A deputy adjutant general, inspector of hospitals, two physicians, and two surgeons are to be part of the staff. This expedition is expected to sail in the course of next week.

The expedition it is believed, has been resolved on in consequence of intelligence received by government of the hostile designs of France and Spain against Portugal and its possessions. It is of importance not only to our ally, but to our East India and other ships which call there, that the island of Madeira should be preserved from the Gripe of Napo-

A proclamation has been issued at Hamhurg, prohibiting all English goods from being introduced into Holstein, unless they can be accompanied with original certificates that they are on neutral account, and are imported from neutral ports.

We understand that upwards of ten thousand men have volunteered from the militia regiments into the line before the first of Sept. the period at which volunteering was to

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4. Extract of a letter from Halifax, duted Oc

"We have received here by the packet, accounts of the arrival in England of the United States schooner Revenge, with the instructions relative to be Chesapeake affair Our apprehensions of war still continue. It is said our government has received orders to embody 2000 militia; that three regiments of regular troops for this place have embarked from Cork; and that six of the regiments now at Copenhagen, are under orders to proceed hither."

Note communicated by Lord Howick to

Mr Munroe dated January 10th 1807. The undersigned, his majesty's principal secretary of state of foreign affairs, has received his majesty's commands to ac. quaint Mr Monroe, that the French go. vernment having issued certain orders, in violation of the usages of war, purport to prohibit the commerse of all neutral nations with his majesty's dominions, and also to prevent such nation from trading with any other country in any articles, the growth. produce or manufacture of his majesty's dominions. And the said government hav. ing taken upon itself to declare all his majesty's dominions to be in a state of blockade, at a time when the fleets of France and her allies are themselves confined within their own peris by the supe. rior valor and discipline of the British na

Such attempts on the part of the enemy, giving to his majesty an unquestionable right of retaliation, and warranting his ma jesty in enforceing the same prohibition of all commerce with Prance, which that pow. er vainly hopes to effect against the commerce of his majesty's subjects, a prohibi. tion which the superiority of his majesty's naval forces might enable him to support, by actually investing the ports and coasts of the enemy with eumerous squadrons & cruizers, so as to make the entrance or approach thereto manifestly dangerous:

His majesty, though unwilling to follow the example of his enemies, by proceeding to an extremity so discressing to all nations not engaged in war, and carrying on their accustomed trade; yet feels himself bound by a due regard to a just defence of the rights & interests of his people, not to suffer such measures to be taken by the enemy, without taking some steps on his part, to restrain the violence, and to retort upon them the evils of their own injustice.

Mr. Munroe is therefore requested to apprize the American consuls and merchapts residing in England, that his majes ty has therefore judged it expedient to order that no vessel shall be permitted to trade from one port to another, both which ports shall belong to or be in possession of France or her silies, or shall be so far under their controul, as that British vessels may not fairly trade thereat, and that the commanders of his majesty's ships of war, and privateers have been instructed to warn every neutral vessel, coming from any such port and destined to another such port, to discontinue her voyage and not to proceed to any such port.

And every vessel, after being so warned, or any vessel coming from any such port, after a reasonable time shall have been afforded for receiving information of this his majesty's order, which shall be found proceeding to another such port, shall be eaptured and brought in, and, together with her cargo, shall be condemned as lawful prize; and that from this time all the measures authorised by the law of nations, and the respective treaties between his majesty and the different neutral powers will be adopted, and executed with respect to vessels attempting to violate the said order after this notice.
